IKONICS Announces Continuing Program with Honeywell Aerospace

DULUTH, MN - IKONICS Corporation (NASDAQ:IKNX), a Duluth-based technology company, announced its continuing program with Honeywell Aerospace for micro-electro-mechanical systems (MEMS) technology in support of U.S. Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) projects and internal testing at the Plymouth, MN facility.

Sue Boudrie, Operations Manager for Ikonics' Advanced Materials Solutions division, said: "We are proud to be working closely on these important defense projects with a technology leader like Honeywell and are pleased that our expertise is appreciated and rewarded."
